OVERLAND WATER COVERAGE

Overland water coverage is now available in Ontario for the first time ever. This coverage protects your home in the event water flows overland into your home. A torrential downpour of rain can overflow local storm drain infrastructure causing the water to flow over land. This poses a problem for homeowners when the water floods basements and lower levels. This new type of coverage is not to be confused with Sewer back up coverage. Call your broker today to learn what options are available.
